DSPs — distribution via Eveara infrastructure	commission — artists keep 100% of royalties	entry price — replaces a $400–500/yr tool stack	owned community — Lonely Listeners Club

THE PROBLEM

5–7 disconnected tools. One artist paying for all of them.

36% of all music released is now fully independent, yet no single platform serves the complete career stack. Artists spend $400–500/yr on tools that never talk to each other — while $1B+ in publishing royalties goes unclaimed annually and no platform offers a real path to fan capital.

THE PLATFORM

Lisnin replaces the stack with one subscription — from $50/yr.

150+ DSP distribution (0% commission, Dolby Atmos standard) · US + CA + European publishing admin · Earkitz website builder · 4,000+ industry contacts · Listening Party promotion inside Discord — and a Rights Marketplace (Year 2) where artists raise capital from fans and investors.

"Artists won't switch distributors to save $10 a year. They'll switch for access to capital."

$200K+ raised across manual campaigns — real dollars, zero paid acquisition. Royal.io's 2024 exit left the consumer rights market open; Lisnin re-enters on Web2/Stripe rails at Month 16.
